Factors to Factor In

When you define your framework for prioritization, it is easy to overlook factors that you should consider. Use this tool to help you think through what you should include.

Factors to Consider	Your Notes
Objectives From your OKRs, list each separately
Cost (Engineering effort) Can be as simple as small/medium/large categorization
Cost (Financial) Direct financial cost, such as license fees or server costs
Time-based risk What is the impact if we do this later instead of now?
Industry-specific considerations List each separately, if applicable
Customer-specific considerations List each separately, if applicable
Regulatory-specific considerations List each separately, if applicable
Country or language considerations List each separately, if applicable
