

ACTIVITY

Critiquing an Unrelated Product

Use this activity to help answer the main question tied to product prototyping, “What should the product look like?”

Instructions

Choose and critique an app or product that is unrelated to the one you are building. Pick something you like that you think is well designed. It could be related to cooking, sports, art, shopping, or anything you personally find interesting. Study the app or product and critique it by answering the questions below.

Considerations:

What app or product did you critique?

Who is the target user?

What problem(s) does it solve?

Why is the product well designed? Be specific about design choices that have a strong impact on the product's usability or effectiveness.

How would you improve the product?
